

Table of Contents

ix

Acknowledgments

xi

Abbreviations

3

Introduction

IVANA JEVTIĆ

I. From Spoils of War to Reused Materials and Spaces

25

INGE UYTTERHOEVEN

Spolia, -iorum, n.: From Spoils of War to Reused Building Materials:
The History of a Latin Term

51

MARIYA KIPROVSKA

Plunder and Appropriation at the Borderland: Representation, Legitimacy, and Ideological Use of Spolia by Members of the Ottoman Frontier Nobility

71

TUĞBA TANYERİ-ERDEMİR

Remains of the Day: Converted Anatolian Churches

II. Biographies of Monuments

97

CLAUDIA BARSANTI[†] and ALESSANDRA GUIGLIA

Spolia in Constantinople's Hagia Sophia from the Age of Justinian to the Ottoman Period: The Phenomenon of Multilayered Reuse

125

ELİF KESER-KAYAALP

The Great Mosque of Diyarbakır in Light of Discussions on Spolia and Classicism

149

NICHOLAS MELVANI

Late, Middle, and Early Byzantine Sculpture in Palaiologan Constantinople

III. Rewriting History through Spolia

173

LIVIA BEVILACQUA

Spolia on City Gates in the Thirteenth Century: Byzantium and Italy

195

SCOTT REDFORD

The Sarcophagus as Spolium: Examples from Thirteenth-Century Konya

211

SUZAN YALMAN

Repairing the Antique: Legibility and Reading Seljuk Spolia in Konya

IV. Aesthetics of Variety

237

PHILIPP NIEWÖHNER

Varietas, Spolia, and the End of Antiquity in East and West

259

ELENA PAPASTAVROU and NIKOLAOS VRYZIDIS

Sacred Patchwork: Patterns of Textile Reuse in Greek Vestments and Liturgical Veils during the Ottoman Era

V. Conceptual Spoliation, or Spolia in Re

289

ÜNVER RÜSTEM

Spolia and the Invocation of History in Eighteenth-Century Istanbul

309

SUNA ÇAĞAPTAY

On the Wings of the Double-Headed Eagle: Spolia in Re and Appropriation in Medieval Anatolia and Beyond

341

Epilogue: A Meditation on the Culture of Spolia

PAUL MAGDALINO

351

List of Contributors

357

Index